Course format

The course is hybrid. It is taught in-person on Tuesdays and on Zoom on Thursdays. A computer or a laptop and a digital audio recorder or smartphone that can record interviews are needed.

Course description

This three-unit class is for editors of La Voz News, the La Voz website and social media. Practical experience assigning, editing and designing news, feature and visual content as a member of the college media editorial staff.

Prerequisite: JOUR 61a.

What is JOUR 61c?

- JOUR 61c combines with JOUR 61a and 61b to produce La Voz News along with social media and video content (and a print newspaper if editors decide). Students create and control all content.
- Students in JOUR 61c are senior reporters or editors who oversee a section or function. The editor-in-chief is responsible for all content decisions.

What is La Voz News?

- A First Amendment student publication that includes La Voz News online and print publication along with social media and video content. Students create and control all content.
- A historical record of life at De Anza College, going back to the college's founding in 1967.
- A business. We sell ads and are accountable to the advertisers for publishing them.
- A student activity. La Voz News media and the students who produce it are an integral part of life at De Anza College.

Textbooks

We provide the staff handbook in both written and video formats. There are several recommended textbooks below, but you do not have to buy them. Useful resources and handouts from various books will be posted on each week's module on Canvas. AP Stylebook, known as the bible of journalists, is available on the lab computers for free. You can get a free 14-day trial at APSylebook.com. If possible, you should buy the 57th edition of the Associated Press Stylebook (2024-2026).

Attendance and participation

Attendance will be taken at every class meeting. Students who have consecutive absences from a class equaling the total number of meetings held in a single week – that is two consecutive sessions for this class – may be disqualified from the class. Every three tardies will count as an absence. Leaving the class early three times will count as an absence. In class, editors assign reporters or they will choose their own assignments, and we will discuss the how-to's of news-gathering: finding sources, interviewing, writing journalism-style, media law and ethics, etc. Please email me before an absence. You are expected to contribute to the training of the staff.

Required time for the class

De Anza's guideline is that students should spend 9-12 hours per week on a three-unit class. An average week might consist of:

- Class: Three hours
- Reading and quiz: One to two hours
- Reporting: One to two hours
- Writing, editing, proofing, rewriting: Seven to eight hours
- Total time: At least 11 hours per week

Student Learning Outcomes

- Apply editing skills to news, feature and opinion pieces for a student-led print newspaper, broadcast and/or website following ethical guidelines and journalistic conventions.
- Develop leadership skills while assigning and working with peers (reporters and photographers and/or fellow editors) as they create content for student media.
- Develop a digital portfolio of work suitable for presentation on a news organization website or broadcast.

Canvas in this course

We will have weekly discussions and self-assessments in which you will discuss your completed assignments; weekly quizzes and a final exam. But you will turn in the actual assignments through a Google Doc on FLOW.

Course requirements

- Have a learning mindset and be an example for the staff.
- Mentor the staff and maintain a good relationship.
- Conduct weekly beat checks with a consistent source and write short reports to stay informed about campus activities, generate news ideas, and assign tasks to your staff.
- Complete assignments as described in the syllabus and on Canvas.
- Attend class sessions and observe class policy. Email your instructor before an absence. A student may be dropped without notice after two absences.
- Read, take quizzes, critique the publication and lead in critique sessions.
- Complete a digital or print portfolio.
- Complete assignments – articles, photos, videos, multimedia as well as editing assignments. Keep editors and the adviser informed of the progress, respect and apply their feedback.
- Complete work by deadlines.
- Complete readings from news outlets, recommended textbook and handouts.
- Read as much as you can. Make daily news consumption a habit.
- Participate in the campus class and Zoom class. Also, do Canvas assignments and exercises.
- Take the possible final exam.
- Consistently and continuously strive to recruit students. Do presentations in various classes, visit high schools and campus events, etc. to recruit students.
- Distribute campus newspapers and flyers and promote the publication.

- Have regular meetings with the college/district officials.
- Make La Voz known to the community.
- Be innovative. Present and implement original plans for the team and La Voz.

Important notes

- You and your team should have daily contribution to the publication.
- Attending editorial board meetings, managing the team including freelancers, pitching, assigning, editing, doing critiques, posting, designing, writing regular editorial pieces and enforcing deadlines are among editors' major roles. News media must produce accurate information and publish fast!
- Substitute assignments might be suggested by students in the class or offered by the adviser.
- Late assignments will lose between 10% and 100% of points.
- Only published assignments will receive points.
- Assignments that are not publishable, for example, are not timely anymore, have mistakes or are not based on the journalistic standards, won't receive points.

Assignments and grading

- 100 points – Editorial board meetings. Assignment ideas for editorial board and class assigning (10 points per week).
- 100 points – Weekly beat checks with a consistent source and college officials.
- 250 points – Editing copy/photos/video/audio on time and posting/publishing daily and on time. Clean content online on the website, in print and social media is expected (25 points per week).
- 120 points – Choosing timely editorial topics, writing them (collectively) and posting on time. At least three editorial pieces per quarter (40 points each).
- 100 points – Meeting deadlines, enforcing deadlines (10 points per week).
- 100 points – Planning the print edition and completing pages on time (content/photo/video/audio/multimedia management).
- 90 points – Professionalism in class and online (points docked for repeat offenses).
- 100 points – Attendance, participation, critique, contest material nomination and preparation, community relationship and leadership. (10 points per week)
- 40 points – Recruiting for next quarter.
- You may be assigned to take quizzes, mini courses, final exam, etc.

Grand TOTAL

1,000

Print issue dates

You will produce one print issue of La Voz News. Issue date: Nov. 12. This means that the newspaper pages should be sent to printer Folger Graphics no later than Nov. 7.

Important note: If a student who is enrolled in JOUR 61C has not produced at least one news video and five interview-based articles in JOUR 61A and/or JOUR 61B, he/she/they must take some writing and video assignments as well. By signing up in this class, students do not instantly become editors. Appointing students as editors is at the discretion of the adviser and the editor-in-chief.

Grade points

Assignments will be evaluated based on timeliness, ethical use of sources and professionalism. Stories must quote three or more sources unless editor assigns otherwise. Source names include first and last name plus age and major for students (or no age and position for faculty/staff).

950-1,000 = A	900-949 = A-	870-899 = B+	840-869 = B
800-839 = B-	760-799 = C+	700-759 = C	0-699 = no pass

Please note: To earn an A+, students must have perfect attendance and participation in addition to earning 1000+ points, not including extra credit.

In some cases, we might be able to substitute assignments.

More on grading

Thirty percent of the grade is cumulative “work habits.” If all assignment points are earned, but professional attitude was missing or a positive work habit was not adopted, you will lose 30 percent of the total grade. Performing your job with a professional attitude will result in a good grade. Participation in all aspects of the media production, consistency, progress, commitment, professional behavior, interest in helping others, meeting deadlines, initiative and publishable assignments are required to earn a good grade. Students who are uncooperative and do not follow editors’ and/or adviser’s instructions get docked. To earn full points on production assignments, follow instructions, submit assignments, including the ones on Canvas and FLOW, by deadline, follow AP style and stay in contact.

Assignments should also be submitted on a weekly/daily basis, based on the schedule and on a timely manner, to receive points.

NOTE: You cannot submit series of assignments together and expect credits for all. Your weekly contribution to La Voz News is a must.

Weekly beat checks

For 10 weeks, you will conduct a weekly beat check with the same person on campus. Your goal is to build a relationship with this individual and gather potential news ideas based on what's happening within their area. You will select one person from any of the following groups to check in with each week: Faculty member, Administrator, Staff member or Student who serves on a committee, but as an editor you need to go beyond it and have regular contacts with all college officials. Then you'll write a brief summary of what you learned and submit it along with your weekly check-in reports. This will help you stay informed about campus activities, generate news ideas and assign tasks to your staff.

Please note: The person you choose should not be a friend or family member. Your aim is to cultivate professional relationships and uncover fresh, objective insights.

Deadlines must be met!

La Voz newsroom environment

- The class is project-based, with a defined outcome or product at regular intervals.
- It requires both collaborative and individual performances.
- It allows for individuality and self-expression. Assignments maybe assigned or are just self-directed and are the choice of the individual student (subject to editors' approval).
- It is deadline-driven. Writing and photo/video deadlines must be met in consideration of those working on production, and in honor of our advertising contracts. We must publish on time.
- Be in our class a few minutes before it starts. It's very important to respect the staff/students and the adviser by attending the class at the set time. Excessive absences will result in disqualification.
- Use the bathroom before class begins. Unless you have a genuine medical condition, do not get up during class meetings; it distracts the instructor and students.
- Before class begins, turn off your cell phones, iPhones, iPods, iPads, etc.
- Arrive prepared for the class: Bring the right book, have a notebook open and be ready to take notes and review reading material before class.
- Read each week's module on Canvas before the class. Review assignments on Flow.
- Do not schedule medical appointments, job interviews, family errands or other activities during class time. If you are serious about academic success, your priority is being present for class. If there is a conflict between your personal/family life and this course, talk to the instructor.
- Plan to miss no classes during the quarter. Every absence is a problem. For every class missed, you miss important class material and participation grade points.
- Review the syllabus, FLOW assignment board, the course schedule and the Canvas course site weekly. Understand all class requirements and expectations. You will receive email invitation to join the Flow site.
- Review La Voz staff handbook. Read it or watch it.
- Consult with your adviser on important issues. Ask questions. Use her office hours. Get to know her; this will identify you as a student who wants to succeed.

- As an editor of La Voz News, you are representing a news organization and must conduct yourself professionally and without conflict of interest.
- Appropriate behavior is required. Disrespectful remarks that may offend others, ignoring feedback and comments on your work, outbursts of temper, harassment, sharing images that others may find offensive and violations of the student conduct code are forbidden. Maintaining a dignified and respectful atmosphere is of the utmost importance. Anyone displaying a pattern of disrespectful behavior will be reported to the disciplinary committee. La Voz has a zero-tolerance policy regarding drugs, alcohol and violence or threats of violence. Inappropriate behavior is grounds for disqualification from La Voz, losing points or failing the course.
- You are responsible for your own work. You are not allowed to complain about others or blame others for the assignments you are responsible for. Do not compare your work or even your class attendance with others. La Voz staff and editors have unique assignments and schedules.
- Food policy: Do not drink or eat during meetings. Other times, you can use the kitchen area and enjoy food and drink. You can even treat your staff sometimes!
- As representatives of La Voz, you must be aware of the impressions you leave on others. Members of the La Voz staff and editors should always ensure that their clothing and appearance are clean and contribute to a pleasant workplace atmosphere.
- Be courteous. It is expected that all staff and editors will respect everyone's rights to work in peace. Respect classmates by staying on topic, using clean language and respecting different identities, backgrounds and opinions; do not intimidate or sexually harass classmates. If you are aware of a problem, please let the adviser know right away.
- Follow instructions and comments on your work. Check your email box frequently.
- Shut down newsroom computers and log out before you leave each day.
- Always keep your words.

NOTE: If you must be absent, email the instructor as early as possible.

- The editor-in-chief and student editorial board are legally liable for what is published in the La Voz News publication and social media. The adviser may review La Voz content to watch for libelous content or inflammatory material. The adviser has the right to ask for revisions on any content that does not meet journalistic standards or has not met the deadline. The adviser will not censor student opinion or content as this would infringe on your First Amendment rights and freedom of expression. The adviser will inform the student of any problems with the assignment, make suggestions for revisions and expect that students to comply with these legal and ethical guidelines. In the case of controversial topics, the adviser will expect the staff and editors to discuss them in advance of publication to ensure policies are upheld. In the case of a vote, editors have a vote, but the adviser does not have a vote in a student-run media operation.
- All material for publication (print or online) runs first in La Voz News.
- All La Voz staffers assume a job description. The editor-in-chief is selected by and reports to the adviser. Students are expected to follow editors' directions. Other editorial positions are chosen by the adviser and, possibly, by the editor-in-chief. Staff must abide by the decisions of the editorial board. If any staffer has an issue with a decision, he/she/they should bring it to the editor-in-chief and/or adviser for discussion.

- La Voz staffers may receive press passes after completing the first few weeks. The press pass gives staffers identification and access to events, for the purpose of covering the story. When presenting the press pass, staffers must always be conscious that you are representing a news organization and must uphold industry behavior standards and ethics. La Voz staffers are not entitled to press passes. If the adviser or editor believes that a staffer is not ready to represent the organization, the staffer will not receive the press pass, or the press pass will be taken away. Any event covered by presentation of a press pass must be covered in the La Voz publication. Press passes must not be abused.

Critique

There may be critique sessions throughout the quarter. Editors have a big role in critique sessions. Your presence and participation on critique sessions are very important. You are expected to read La Voz, be familiar with content and lead your team by helping them learn from their successes and mistakes. Plan to be on time and prepared to participate.

Social media

Facebook, Instagram, X and TikTok are social media platforms used by La Voz. These are used to promote online content, for breaking news and other standalone posts. Lead your staff members to regularly submit work for La Voz social media pages and “like” and “share” La Voz stories on these pages as well as on their own social media pages.

Adviser’s role

The adviser’s role is to advise the staff on issues regarding news judgment, writing and placement, content, page design, professional ethics and conduct and other journalistic principles and techniques. The adviser is present at all editorial board proceedings but does not impose editorial positions. It is not the adviser’s role to serve as an editor of the publication and to catch your mistakes. The adviser is not responsible for any mistakes on assignments or the publication. The adviser does not determine content or design. Do not expect the adviser to correct your spelling and grammar in your drafts. Do not expect to be taught about all necessary apps, software programs, etc. You need to be self-motivated to learn on your own. Always seek advice and ask for help and feedback.

Journalism conference and awards

Your best work might receive awards. The best of La Voz work will be submitted to three prestigious journalism organizations to be judged. Former students have received many awards. The staff will have the opportunity to participate in two conferences per year: One is a one-day conference in fall quarter and the other one is a three-day conference in winter quarter. The fall conference will be on Saturday, Oct. 26 at San Francisco State University. For more information, visit Journalism Association of Community Colleges or Associated Collegiate Press websites.

Important dates

Sept. 23: Fall classes begin

Oct. 6: Last day to add 12-week classes

Oct. 6: Last day to drop classes without a W

Nov. 11: Veterans Day holiday – no classes; offices closed

Nov. 15: Last day to drop classes with a W

Nov. 28-Dec. 1: Thanksgiving holiday – no classes; offices closed

Dec. 9-13: Final exams

Dec. 10: Final exam for this class from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

Reading

Reading is a major part of the course and a habit of journalists. Good writers are good readers. De Anza students have free access to the major U.S. dailies through the ProQuest database. The best way to browse for a particular publication, for example the Wall Street Journal content, is to click on “Publications” above the search box, then select Wall Street Journal to access articles from the current day.

The De Anza Library has free access for current students / faculty to the New York Times. Go to the library database page and click on The New York Times. At the next screen, log in with your Portal IDs. On the next screen, create an account.

Highly recommended textbooks

We provide you with the staff handbook in both written and video formats.

The course does not require you to purchase textbooks, but the following books are highly recommended.

AP Stylebook, known as The Journalist’s “bible,” Perseus Books Group; Revised Updated edition (preferably the most recent edition, 2024-2026, 57th edition)

Journalism of Ideas

By Daniel Reimold

Dynamics of News Reporting and Writing: Foundational Skills for a Digital Age

By Vincent F. Filak

The Elements of News Writing, James W. Kershner

The Student Newspaper Survival Guide, Rachele Kanigel

Inside Reporting: A practical guide to the craft of journalism, Tim Harrower

Newspaper Designer's Handbook, Tim Harrower

Associated Press Guide to Photojournalism, Brian Horton

Feature and Magazine Writing: Action, Angle and Anecdotes, David E. Sumner and Holly Miller

Feature Writing: The Pursuit of Excellence, Edward J. Friedlander and John Lee

Telling True Stories, Mark Kramer

Writing and Reporting News: A Coaching Method, Carole Rich

Reporting for the Media, John Bender, Lucinda Davenport, Michael Drager and Fred Fedler

News Reporting and Writing, Melvin Mencher

Broadcast News Handbook, C.A. Tuggle, Forrest Carr, Suzanne Huffman

How to Shoot Video That Doesn't Suck, Steve Stockman

These books are good references for nearly everything you will encounter in this class, including writing, editing, photography, videography, broadcasting, etc.

Withdrawal/drop policy

It is the responsibility of the student to formally drop a class. You should not rely on the instructor to drop you from a class for non-attendance, but you may be dropped if you have two consecutive absences. Please consult with your instructor before you drop the course.

Academic honesty policy

Original work is required for this class. Papers from other classes or your past writings are not accepted. Journalists have only one thing to offer: credibility. Making things up – quotes, people in stories, facts – and stealing the words of another writer or failing to give proper attribution to information obtained from other sources are deadly sins in journalism. The instructor may cross-check story submissions. There is a zero-tolerance policy in this class regarding plagiarism, fabrication and cheating.

Plagiarism: To plagiarize is to “steal and use (the ideas and writings of another) as one’s own.” Even using your own writing from the past instead of the required assignments is considered plagiarism. Plagiarism (copying work or cheating) is grounds for probation and/or suspension from the college. Any student who cheats on an exam, plagiarizes from somebody’s work or lifts information from sources without citing those sources will receive a 0 for that assignment and a grade no higher than a C for the course. It means an A will change to a C, a B will change to a D and a C will change to an F. If you are uncertain about the college's policy on academic misconduct, please refer to the Academic Integrity section. An online site about plagiarism with suggestions on how to avoid it is available at the Purdue University Online Writing Lab.

Fabrication: The use of composite or imaginary situations or characters is not allowed. Occasionally a columnist may use such an approach in developing a piece, but it must be made clear to the reader that the person or situation is fictional.

Confidentiality and Ethical Conduct: Participation in class discussion platforms, including but not limited to Slack, Flow, Canvas, Discord and other forums, is a privilege granted solely for the purpose of fostering open communication and collaboration among class members. It is expected that all discussions and interactions within these platforms and in the class remain confidential and not to be shared outside the class without explicit consent.

Any unauthorized sharing or dissemination of class-related information, including but not limited to screenshots, conversation excerpts or identifiable details about fellow classmates, is strictly prohibited and constitutes a breach of trust and ethical conduct.

Violation of this policy will result in immediate removal from all online platforms associated with the class, including group messaging, Canvas, Flow, Discord and Slack. Additionally, disciplinary action may be taken as per the institution's academic integrity policies.

By participating in class discussions and utilizing these platforms, students agree to uphold the principles of confidentiality and ethical conduct. Remember, what happens in the newsroom stays in the newsroom.

Journalistic ethics:

You are expected to be honest. In this course, that means you should not turn in any work that is not your own, invent sources, mislead sources or invent quotes or sources. Even any work that was your own but was produced before or produced for other classes or other purposes is not acceptable. Examples of journalistic plagiarism and integrity lapses:

- Copy/pasting stories from online sources.
- Making up fictitious sources.
- Interviewing people by email/text unless absolutely necessary and received permission from your instructor first. These are not genuine interviews!
- Interviewing your friends or family members, unless explicitly told and got permission from your instructor for a specific assignment.
- Telling sources the story you're writing is "just for a class" or it "won't be published." You will have a better learning experience if you take yourself and your work more seriously.
- Using quotations from unnamed sources.

- Manipulating quotes, photos or other visuals.
- Using social media to get quotations for a story unless you can verify people's identity, you explicitly told and got permission from your instructor for a specific assignment.
- Using AI in doing your assignments. While it's important for journalists to understand the role of AI and its benefits in the field — such as using it to practice interview techniques, brainstorm questions or help make sense of complex official documents — you should not rely on AI to write your assignments. Authentic journalism requires critical thinking, original reporting and the development of your own voice. All written work must reflect your individual effort, research and perspective. Using AI to generate content for your assignments is not acceptable and will be treated as a violation of academic integrity. Without prior permission and consultation with your instructor, using ChatGPT or any other AI tools is not allowed.

Accuracy of stories

To ensure students accurately report and write information from sources, I may randomly check facts and send out accuracy surveys to the people named as sources in stories. The surveys may include questions such as:

- Was the story fair and accurate?
- Were your name and title correct?
- Were you quoted or attributed accurately?
- Did the story omit any information you believe was important to full understanding of its content?
- How did the reporter conduct the interview? In person, by email or conference call?

Zoom etiquette:

- Professionalism is a must.
- Join using a computer or a laptop, but not a phone.
- Join early – Up to five minutes before the meeting starts.
- Have your video on throughout the meeting.
- Use your real name to be admitted to the class
- Write your name in the chat box and say hello once you join
- Write your name in the chat box and say bye once you leave
- Mute your microphone when not talking.
- Find a quiet space without interruptions and background noise.
- Have a plain background – avoid virtual backgrounds. They might be distracting or inappropriate.
- Avoid backlight from bright windows behind you.
- Avoid doing other tasks, including checking emails, texting, shopping, eating, sleeping, driving, etc.
- Leave your phone away from you, so that it won't be distracting.
- Wear appropriate clothes.

- Do not eat or drink during the meeting.
- Do not bring your pets, children or anyone else to the Zoom meeting.
- Be prepared, have a pen and paper ready and take notes.
- Use a bathroom before class begins.

Student Success Center

Need help with this class? You are not alone.

Student Success Center peer tutors can relate and are ready to help! Go to the SSC homepage and click on the yellow links for on-campus schedules and Zoom links.

 Tutoring: Drop-in or sign up for weekly sessions. Come with assignments or questions or just stop by to check it out.

 Workshops: Skills Workshops on a variety of topics—managing stress, anti-procrastination, study tips and tricks, finding resources and community at De Anza and much more!

 Group tutoring and group study: Connect with classmates and others learning the same material. Most people learn better with others ... give it a try!

 Support for online learning: Speak with a friendly peer tutor or SSC staff member about motivation and organization strategies to stay on track with less stress.

 Need after-hours or weekend tutoring? See the Online Tutoring page for information about NetTutor (accessible via Canvas).

Please click to Join SSC Resources Canvas ! This is a great source for reminders about tutoring and workshops and links to De Anza-specific curated resources for many subjects.

Questions? Contact Diana Alves de Lima alvesdelimadiana@fhda.edu, Melissa Aguilar aguilarmelissa@fhda.edu or the appropriate SSC contact.

Studies show that students who participate in tutoring, group study or workshops for three or more hours succeed at much higher rates than those who do not.

Career services

The Career Services office offers workshops and resources to assist students in choosing a major, finding a job or planning a career. You can use the online scheduler to arrange an online meeting with a Career Services counselor.

Visit your village

At De Anza, you can find academic and social support through your Guided Pathways Village. Each Village Space is a place on campus where you'll find a community of students, faculty and staff members who share your interests, along with events, services and resources that are relevant to your major. The Villages are a great starting point for the whole college experience:

- Each Village offers events and fun activities keyed to your major and related subjects.
- Each Village has space for you to study alone or in groups.
- Each Village has charging stations, books and games
- Each Village has student ambassadors, instructional faculty and counselors.
- Each Village has Support Service professionals and information to help you find the support you need.
- Each Village can be reserved for club, group or class use, so if you belong to a group looking for a great space to have meetings, you can reserve your space and time.
- Villages are generally open from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., Monday through Thursday, but there are also special event hours, so check with your Village!

There are also virtual Villages where you can find relevant information and services – including degree and transfer maps, which can help you save time and make steady progress toward your goals. If you don't yet belong to your Village, join yours today!

Courtesy/equity

It is important to respect your instructor/adviser and your classmates, despite disagreements. In the discussions, I expect students to be professional and courteous, to listen to one another, and to show tolerance and respect for varying viewpoints. Students who exhibit inappropriate behavior will be docked points and/or excused from the class. All persons, regardless of gender, age, class, race, religion, physical disability, sexual orientation, etc., shall have equal opportunity without harassment in this course. Issues can be discussed in confidentiality with the instructor.

Read the “Agreement” carefully!

Agreement

- Professionalism is a must. You must respect your adviser, your fellow classmates and the community. You must be open to learn and be receptive to criticism.
- By signing up for this class, the student grants La Voz News permission in perpetuity to use any material produced for this class in any form -- print, online, on its website, in social media or to promote the student news media or the Journalism Program – anytime. This includes all material created for this class (published, unpublished, tutorial, etc.).
- La Voz reserves the right to use your name and your pictures online, in print, on social media, in advertisements, etc., now and/or in the future.
- Your contact information will be distributed among your fellow classmates and La Voz freelancers and contributors.
- You have no right to manipulate, modify or take down posted/published work on any La Voz platforms.
- Anyone not enrolled in the class is not allowed in the classroom.
- All material for publication runs first in La Voz News (print or online) before any other publications.
- Assignments MUST be assigned or pre-approved by the editor-in-chief, managing editor section editors and/or the adviser in some cases.
- You introduce yourself as a representative of La Voz News ONLY during the quarter, even if you plan to return next quarter, you are not a representative of La Voz during the break.
- The students' work is the property of La Voz. La Voz has unlimited right to sell or use the students' work in ads or elsewhere.
- By signing up for this class, students understand, accept and agree to every policy on this syllabus. That covers professional conduct, plagiarism, absenteeism, copyright – everything. You must follow instructions.
- The equipment and supplies of La Voz are used for production of the publication or related educational projects specifically approved by the adviser. Only La Voz students may use the facilities, equipment and supplies of the newsroom.
- There are cameras, recorders, mics, laptops, etc. Students are responsible to return the loaned items in the same good condition. If the tools don't function well, after they are returned, or they are lost/stolen, etc., students are responsible for replacing the exact items or paying the equivalent.
- The newsroom cannot be open beyond scheduled times. Production must be completed within that time. Do not ask for an extension.
- As part of the requirements of this course, you need to recruit staff members by distributing flyers, doing presentations, promoting the course on social media, etc.

- You are responsible for your own learning. Read the syllabus and the staff handbook carefully and take notes in the class.
- You are required to have weekly contribution to the publication.
- Your work might be viewed/critiqued/edited by anyone in this class, and the final version of assignments will be published, which is viewable by public.
- In some cases, we might have live edit sessions, when students' assignments are reviewed by the peers, the instructor and/or guest speakers live in class or on Zoom.
- Your work is finished when the final product is finished. Teamwork is essential.
- If you don't have a contribution to a print issue, your name will be removed from the staff box.
- Your work will be published with your legal name, stated on the roster.

Please note:

- ✓ This syllabus, including the grade chart, is subject to change at the discretion of the instructor and/or college.
- ✓ Continued enrollment in this course assumes that you have read and understood the information outlined in the syllabus and agreed with the terms and conditions.
- ✓ Your adviser is here to help you succeed in your journey. Don't hesitate to reach out if you need additional support or guidance — I'm here to help!

Good luck!
